

The North American Blueberry Council (NABC) is a national trade organization made up of members of the blueberry industry that serves as the lead advocate for the success and profitability of the highbush blueberry industry.

NABC and its members help ensure blueberries are represented in agriculture on both regulatory and political fronts. In other words, we're the feet on the ground for blueberry growers in Washington, D.C.

NABC welcomes fruit brokers, processors, food manufacturers and others connected to the blueberry industry to join as associate members. Becoming an associate member connects you to our valuable audience of blueberry growers and our treasure trove of data.

Two Levels of NABC Associate Membership

Blue-level associate members can network with our audience of blueberry growers and exhibit at some NABC meetings, be listed in our directory and link to the NABC website. Annual fee: $700. Gold-level associate members receive all blue-level benefits and also get weekly harvest season crop reports, monthly cold storage reports, the annual Blueberry Statistical Report and access to International Blueberry Organization (IBO) data. Annual fee: $2,000 Connect with NABC and its member growers who are working hard to ensure a healthy and successful blueberry industry! Simply fill out this application, front and back, and submit to: Email: info@nabcblues.org Mail: The North American Blueberry Council, 81 Blue Ravine Road, Suite 110, Folsom, California 95630
